RAFFLES UNIVERSITY

Vol IV, November 2023 - February 2024
Quarterly Edition

The culture of celebration has been wrapped in the enthusiastic zeal of awards, festivity, and discovering newness all around. We are framing a new era of change and making it descriptive of the coming of youth age. Growing and moving towards the channel of development has been a great change that implements the desire to improve. The blooming flowers take the natural time to fulfill their growth whereas, human impatience seizes the growth early. Patiently woven winnings are more informed celebrations and graphically move in the right direction. Thus, swiftly move on this slippery path of success and grasp the movement of happiness in the walk of life.

OUR RECENT ACCOMPLISHMENT

CONFERENCE, WORKSHOP, FDP, SEMINARS, RESEARCH PAPERS AND PUBLICATIONS

Stepping into the realm of literary brilliance, we are happy to announce that Dr. Aparna launched her book entitled Objectification of Women's Body and Womb, graced by the esteemed presence of our Chairperson Hon'ble Dr. Meena V. Gomber and the Vice Chancellor Prof. Dr. Gadangi Indira witness the convergence of intellect and inspiration as we unveil the masterpiece that transcends boundaries to showcase women through her narrative. The book captures the female body which has been strangled not just by the patriarchy but also by the society and it further formulates the diced opinion of woman that not only strikes one argument but also baskets other opinions of being economically strong through surrogacy. So, the demand is whether to question the phenomenological reality of childbirth or whether is it worth commercializing.

We are thrilled to announce that a book on the Environment has covered a great milestone and was Launched with the respected Chief Guest Vice Chancellor Prof. (Dr.) Gadangi Indira, Deans, HoDs, and CoE entitled “Environmental Modeling for Sustainable Development” by Dr, Meenakshi Sharma, School of Basic and Applied Sciences on 28th February 2024.
